Calvin Edwards & Company has been a great asset as we have taken an amorphous idea from concept to practical reality. Implementation requires defining an idea well; and we knew what we wanted to do but weren't quite able to flesh it out properly.

Calvin Edwards helped us articulate the vision and goals for the Life Portfolio, which is the centerpiece of Full Circle Living. He has a wonderful ability to listen, grasp a concept, and then develop a written, realistic model that accomplishes what we are trying to express. Much of what you see in the Life Portfolio section of our website is due to his efforts to help us define what our nonprofit organization wanted to accomplish with this concept, and how. We provided input and Calvin handed us a cohesive finished product.

We are a purposefully non-sectarian, non-religious organization. We greatly respect the fact that, although Calvin works with many clients who primarily support religious organizations and may have personally disagreed with our approach, he was willing and able to help us create this critical medium to convey Full Circle Living's mission, without imposing any of his personal views. His services were invaluable, and Calvin Edwards & Company has our deepest thanks.
