It is very helpful to have in our city a man with Calvin Edwards' background in nonprofit executive leadership and heart for ministry.

His firm's services are very useful for donors, as they help givers look into not just the heart of the ministry, but also the head (organization, finance, etc.). Additionally, in the end, their work is helpful to nonprofits who often use their materials internally and/or with other donors.

Each month, through our CityLights program, the Atlanta Resource Foundation brings donors and leaders to visit a ministry where the Spirit of God is at work. When that ministry is not very well known we use Calvin Edwards & Company to help present that ministry through a Ministry Brief. This product is invaluable to accurately and concisely communicate the key facts - independent of ministry "hype" - to the businesspeople we serve.
